Keeping It Safe... and Contact-Free

ChemStation continues to find new ways to help our customers adapt and thrive under the challenges we face today as a global community. Here are three ways we help our customers keep it safe and contact-free:

- Refillable tanks mean no more employee handling of containers.
- Telemetry offers remote inventory monitoring so your employees don't have to manually check inventory.
- Contact-free deliveries mean you can accept and sign-off on deliveries remotely.

If you know of a company who would benefit by using the ChemStation System, please refer them to your local ChemStation Manufacturing Center or have them visit www.chemstation.com for more information.

OSHA QuickTakes Newsletter

QuickTakes is a free online newsletter from the Occupational Safety & Health Administration and is distributed twice monthly to more than 240,000 subscribers.

It provides the latest news about enforcement actions, rulemaking, outreach activities, compliance assistance, and training and educational resources.

Subscribers rely on QuickTakes for information about workplace safety and health.

Starting in 2018, QuickTakes subscribers began receiving occasional "Did You Know?" messages informing them of OSHA safety resources.

To read current and past issues or to subscribe, visit www.osha.gov/quicktakes/.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle – In the Office

There are many opportunities to go green in the office. See these tips from the EPA on how to reduce waste at work:

- Instead of printing hard copies of your documents, save them to your hard drive or email them to yourself to save paper.
- Change printer settings to make double-sided pages. Use small point fonts when possible and the "fast draft" setting when possible to save ink.
- Use paperclips (over staples) when possible.
- Reuse envelopes with metal clasps and reuse file folders by sticking a new label over the previous one.
