Distracted Driving

Distracted driving is any activity that diverts attention from driving, including talking or texting on your phone, eating and drinking, messing with the stereo, entertainment or navigation system – anything that takes your attention away from the task of safe driving. When it comes to texting, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration website offers these tips for safe driving:

- If you must send or receive a text, pull over to a safe location and park your car first.
- If you have passengers, appoint a “designated texter” to handle all your texting.
- If you can't resist the temptation to look at it, keep your phone in the trunk.
